

Retaking the Commons

Saturday, Sept 16

1-4 PM bit.ly/hkhumancity

公共空間、公共參與

A city's "commons" are public resources and spaces that belong to every citizen. Who decides what happens in the commons? Who cares for these spaces? How do we get involved?

Individual citizens, dedicated community groups, and forward-thinking companies are leading diverse efforts to retake and reshape our commons. Perhaps you are dreaming up a new initiative for a neighborhood you care about? Come celebrate public spaces with friends!

Who engages in the design, stewardship, and creative development of public spaces? How can the process include the communities these projects are ostensibly meant to serve?

Join us for a series of roundtable talks, exhibits, and presentations about new opportunities and ongoing initiatives related to our shared public spaces.

Can collective action lead to better places for all citizens to enjoy?

Jointly presented by:

Stanford University Human Cities Initiative • CUHK Urban Studies • HKU Urban Studies • HKU Landscape Architecture • Hong Kong Design Institute / BCU • Tsinghua Academy of Art & Design • Tsinghua Construction Management • Plus architecture/design professionals from Hong Kong and Taiwan

Featuring: WalkDVRC, Hong Kong Institute of Planners, Urban Land Institute & More!

Saturday, September 16, 2017

Time: 1-4 PM

Location:

Asia Society Hong Kong Center / 9 Justice Dr, Admiralty
亞洲協會香港中心，香港金鐘正義道九號

More info and RSVP:

<http://humancityworkshop.org/hong-kong-roundtable>

